1. Introduction

Kilshenane graveyard was surveyed using a Magellan ProMark 3 Rover and Base station and presented in Irish Transverse Mercator (ITM). The GPS graveyard survey datasets were exported using Hangle software from GPS Ireland and then exported into AutoCAD and finished using Adobe Illustrator. Reference numbers mentioned in the main body of the report relate to the ID point given when the survey was undertaken (see A3 plan Figure 2 below). A digital photographic record and surname database was also compiled to complement the cartographic survey (see appendices). Digital photographs of the features within the graveyard are referenced in the appendices and all photographs are provided on the attached disc.

The survey was undertaken as per the tender survey criteria set out by the Heritage Section of Kerry County Council, (KCC) and further, with due regard to:

- Conservation principles as produced by ICOMOS in the Venice and Burra Charters
- The publication in 2004 of the Architectural Heritage Protection-Guidelines for Planners by the DoEHLG, (now DAHG)
- The heritage objectives as outlined and adopted in the current Kerry County Council Development Plan 2009-2015, Built Heritage (Chapter 10)

The Convention for the Protection of the Architectural Heritage of Europe was signed at the Granada Convention in 1985 and ratified by Ireland in 1997. The conservation aims as stated in the Burra Charter are for the retention or restoration of historical significance with the minimum of physical intervention and that such intervention work be reversible, maintain the structure's character and setting and that all conservation works should be undertaken following comprehensive research.

An information booklet on care and maintenance for tombs should be compiled and supplied to the relevant parish church.

All of these graveyards are recorded monuments protected under the National Monuments (Amendment) Act 1994 and under the jurisdiction of Kerry County Council. All proposed works should be carried out by experience competent personnel under expert archaeological / architectural guidance and supervision. As these sites are recorded monuments conservation and restoration works can only be carried out under license from the National Monuments Service of the Dept. of Environment, Heritage and Local Gov.

2. Site Location

Kilshenane graveyard is situated on the summit of a small hillock in rolling undulating pasturage on the lower western limits of the Stack's Mountains circa 6.5 km SE of Listowel and 18.5km NE of Tralee, Co. Kerry (Figure 1 & Plate 1).

3. General

Kilshennane graveyard is recorded in the Record of Monuments & Places, (RMP), KE016-059. No vestige of Kilshenane Church-Cill tSeandáin-Church of St. Senan survives above ground today. The graveyard is marked but the church is not denoted on either of the 1st or 2nd Editions of the OS maps of 1841 and 1897 respectively, (Figures 3 & 4). When John O'Donovan survey the graveyard in 1841 he stated that the old church dedicated to St. Sennan was totally destroyed, (O'Donovan 1983, 39). Immediately to the south, circa 0.12km from the graveyard, in a little wooded glen is St. Senan's Well-Tobershenane, (Figures 2-4 & Plates 1-2). A gate and stile leads into a demarcated grassy track to the well. The well is still visited and venerated today in particular on the 8th March and also the Saturdays before May Day, Midsummer and Michaelmas-29th September, (ÓDanach-air 1958, 158-9).

4. Kilshenane graveyard

The graveyard of Kilshenane (Figure 2 & Plates 3-5) is in general good order and well maintained and fairly easy to negotiate for all ages.

5. Approach and parking

Kilshenane is approached along a short uphill cul-de-sac signposted from the N69 with ample, open carparking provided (Figure 2 & Plates 1 and 6).

6. Entrance

The short approach from the carpark into the graveyard is upslope along a partially tarred / gravelled accessway that is provided with a robust handrail along one side. Entrance is through a modern galvanised gate pivoting between two solid square rubblestone piers on either side of which is a swing-stile and a step-stile (Plates 3 and 7).

6.1 Recommendations

No recommendations necessary.

7. Services & Signage

A commercial waste collection bin is available however it appears that water is not provided (Plate 5).

7.1 Recommendations

Water and a watering can should be provided.

8. Boundaries

The E & N boundary wall is constructed of modern concrete blocks, capped and dash rendered. The S & W boundary walls are of uncoursed local rubblestone, round capped with cement along the west and with 'soldier' capping at the south where the wall requires some maintenance and repairs due to ivy growth etc.

8.1 Recommendations

The ivy should be removed or severely cut-back before it gets fully established.

The wall, especially along the S boundary needs to be repaired by a tradesperson skilled in rubble stone and mortar walls.

9. Pathways

There is a formal gravelled path extending around all the graveyard interior perimeter as well as a diagonal spur from the N to the SE corner, (Figure 2 & Plates 3-5). An informal desire line extends from the entrance area directly into the interior of the graveyard as well, (Figure 2).

9.1 Recommendations

No recommendations necessary

10. Tombs

There are eighteen tombs of the strong-box and gabled types. The majority of them are constructed of local rubblestone and rendered while others are of ashlar limestone (Figure 2 & Plates 8- & 11). The tombs vary in condition from excellent to totally collapsed, while others are overgrown and neglected, (see Appendix 1).

Of the 18 tombs recorded the names of four are unknown, while one is illegible and another, (tomb no. 7) is partially decipherable-Tomb erected for Garrett Kur... and posterity, 1830, (Appendix 1).

10.1 Recommendations

Specialist work is required to preserve, repair, clean and restore several of the tombs at Kilshenane Graveyard. A couple will require careful rebuilding. Work should only be undertaken by skilled masons with a proven track record of working with historic structures and ashlar masonry.

Grass covering some of the tombs should only be fully removed as the primary element of an agreed inclusive strategy of repairs and other conservation and restoration works. The illegible or partially legible inscriptions should be cleaned and fully recorded.

All work on these historic tombs should be undertaken with expert archaeological advice and guidance.

11. Named Headstones

A total of two hundred and seventy three, (273) named and generally modern headstones (HN) were recorded (Figure 2). The vast majority of the headstones are in good order and generally legible. Only one is totally shattered and the name unknown, (Plate 12). The earliest recorded dated to the late 18th century, possibly 1776. Unusually, none of the headstones were inscribed in Irish.

11.1 Recommendations

The broken unknown headstone should be repaired or replaced.

12. Unnamed Headstones

A total of thirty unnamed gravemarkers were recorded dispersed throughout the older western area of the graveyard, (Figure 2).

13. Graveslabs

There is one illegible graveslab, (Grave No. 1).

14. Summary of recommendations for future management/conservation of Rattoo church & graveyard

- Water should be provided.
- The ivy now re-establishing itself on the boundary walls should be severely cut back or removed before it becomes pervasive.
- All vegetation on the tombs should be cut back and removed. The tombs should then be reconstructed, repaired and repointed sensitive to their original construction. The render should be replaced sensitive to the original construction.

- The ivy and other growth on the tombs and on the boundary walls should only be fully removed as the primary element of an agreed strategy of repairs and other conservation and restoration works. Otherwise ivy and other growth should be simply cut back and maintained at a controllable level.
- Cleaning, conservation and restoration works should only be carried out by qualified personnel under archaeological supervision.
- It is likely that local information would furnish the names associated with some of the unnamed tombs and graves and this information should be collected and added to the database.
- An all weather information board similar to one already existing at Killury graveyard, in Lissycurrag townland near Causeway, should be established at a suitable location at the graveyard, most likely beside the entrance gate on its interior.
- The Care and Conservation of Graveyards, a publication from The Office of Public Works (OPW) is recommended reading for future maintenance of the church and graveyard.
- An informative booklet on Kilshenane should be compiled by Kerry County Council and available locally. It should include helpful tips for parishioners on caring for the graveyard, and the individual plots, as well as giving advice about works which may professional services such as the cleaning of old headstones etc.

Note on Recommendations

All recommendations as set out above are recommendations only based on visual site fieldwork undertaken by the writer. No invasive or other intervention work was undertaken in the course of producing this report. Access into the surviving church tower was not possible as the entrance was boarded up. Ultimately, no responsibility will be accepted by the writer with regard to the undertaking of the conservation work as recommended in this report and based only on visual inspection. The ultimate decision on recommendations etc rests with Kerry County Council and the National Monuments Service of the Dept. of Environment Heritage and Local Government.
